The original Hotmail service was founded by Sabeer Bhatia and Jack Smith, and was one of the first webmail services on the Internet. It was commercially launched on July 4, 1996, American Independence Day, symbolising "freedom" from ISP-based e-mail and the ability to access a user's inbox from anywhere in the world. Hotmail was initially backed by venture capital firm Draper Fisher Jurvetson. By December 1997, it reported more than 8.5 million subscribers. Hotmail was sold to Microsoft in December 1997 for reported $ 400 million, and it joined the MSN group of services. Hotmail quickly gained in popularity and became the world's largest webmail service, and reported more than 30 million active members by February, 1999.

5. Read the following passage and answer the questions given below :

The capitalist system of society does not foster healthy relations among human beings. A few people own all the means of production and others - though nominally few have to sell their labour under conditions imposed upon them. The emphasis of capitalism being on the supreme importance of material wealth the intensity of its appeal is to the acquisitive intensity. It promotes worship of economic power with little regard to the means employed for its acquisition and the end that it serves. By its exploitation of human beings to the limits of endurance its concentration is on the largest profit rather than maximum production. Thus the division of human family is done on the basis of economic circumstance. All this is injurious to division of human dignity. And when the harrowed poor turn to the founders of religion for succour, they rather offer a subtle defence of the established order. They promise future happiness, for their present suffering and conjure up visions of paradise to redress the balance to soothe the suffering and the revolt of the tortured men. The system imposes injustice, the religion justifies it.

Questions :-
